

| | |
|---------------------------|---|
| Department: | Faculty of Information Technology |
| Course Name | Signals and Systems |
| Hours per week | 4 |
| Number of Credits | 4 |
| Course Description | This course introduces the basic concepts and methods for the transmission and processing of determinate signal via linear, time invariant systems. It covers basic principles and techniques of signal and system analysis in time domain and transform domains, including Fourier transform, Laplace transform and their applications. |